"Learn from every experience."

Scott Rybny is a partner in the Insurance Industry Law Group. He has been representing the insurance industry in a variety of jurisdictions and contexts since 1999. His practice has a particular substantive focus on insurance coverage litigation. His work on leading insurance issues has given him broad experience in complicated multi-party insurance litigation along with the insights necessary to bring these matters to a resolution.

Mr. Rybny has substantial trial, arbitration and appellate experience in representing regional and national insurers. He has particular experience handling first-party property insurance and special investigations. His experience also covers commercial general liability, directors and officers, fiduciary liability, property, business interruption (including extra expense and contingent business interruption), commercial crimes and credit risk insurance, among others. He has the practical and legal experience to assist clients in managing risks and solving problems, and is a frequent lecturer in the area of insurance litigation and coverage.
